Honoring the Military Spouse by Betty Doherty

Can you unpack a household and have everything in it's new place in three days (including the TA-50), then find the FRG meeting at ACS and drop the "BRATS" off at the YS or CDC on the way? If so, chances are that you are a military spouse. On May 14, the Fort Drum Community will take a moment to honor the countless things that military spouses' do and endure simply because they love a soldier. The list is long and great including hours of volunteering, moving a household more times than one can count, raising families all over the world (and often alone), waving goodbye, and hugging welcome home. This list only scratches the surface of all that the military spouse does, for if I were to list it all, there would be no room for anything else in this issue.

Take a moment to think of the military spouses that you know. Think of all that he or she does in the course of a week, a day, or a year. Then join the festivities at Army Community Service on May 14 from 11:30 a.m. - 1 p.m. to honor these amazing individuals. Included in this year's celebration will be the annual Chili Contest, door prizes, informational booths, and a lunch. Those wishing to enter a pot of their secret recipe into the Chili Contest, should call ACS at 772-6557 to sign up. All chili entries must be delivered to ACS, by 11 a.m. on May 14. Sponsors for this year's Military Spouse Day Celebration are Sam's Club of Watertown, and Pioneer Services. Sponsorship does not imply endorsement.
